“Coming from a Native American and Mexican genealogy that worked so hard for me to be here, in Los Angeles specifically, this recognition is an honor. I do my best to show appreciation by working equally as hard as my ancestors. The importance of giving back to our communities is something that we can all share and take part in,” said Mendoza, an actress, film director, and producer. “I’m so thankful to be able to do so through the many opportunities I’ve been given. Being on television shows such as the Emmy award-winning Disney show “Proud Family: Louder and Prouder,” gives me the platform needed for the most profound moments of my career and that to me is rooted in philanthropy.”

Dr. Lemelle stated, “The Angel City Salute Proclamation Ceremony is designed to honor individuals who elevate the stature of Los Angeles and beyond its borders, and to celebrate their leadership, mentorship, and passion for Los Angeles. Many of our honorees have devoted more than 4,000 volunteer hours in the community and beyond. Selected honorees will receive the award endorsed by the White House, with President Joe Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris showing their support.” The President's Volunteer Service Award, led by AmeriCorps, is part of this national recognition.

The Presidential Lifetime Achievement Awards, founded in 2003 by the President’s Council on Service and Civic Participation, followed President George H. W. Bush's call to action during his State of the Union Address. The awards recognize outstanding men and women who have made significant contributions through their service throughout their lives.

The Second Annual Angel City Salute Proclamation Ceremony is an unforgettable evening celebrating the spirit of service and dedication to positively impact communities in Los Angeles County and beyond its borders.
