WASHINGTON , DC, USA, May 8, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- According to the US Navy Veterans Mesothelioma Advocate, "If your husband or dad is a Navy Veteran who has just learned they have mesothelioma-was he ever assigned to a navy shipyard-such as the Puget Sound Navy Shipyard in Bremerton, Washington or any other navy shipyard? As we would like to discuss anytime at 866-714-6466-shipyard exposure to asbestos might make the compensation for a Navy Veteran with mesothelioma increase dramatically.

"When most Navy Veterans learn they have mesothelioma they almost always try to think of how they were exposed to asbestos on their ship or submarine-they do not always recall their deployment to a shipyard with their ship or submarine. Frequently, when we talk to them-they recall and they remember they had significant exposure to asbestos at a shipyard such as the Puget Sound Navy Shipyard in Washington State, or Portsmouth in Maine, or Norfolk in Virginia, Hunters Point-or-Long Beach in California, Brooklyn Navy Yard in New York, the Boston Navy Yard in Massachusetts, or Groton in Connecticut.
