

Black Château Announces Strategic Alignment with the Kauai Writers Conference

Celebrating its ten-year anniversary, the Kauai Writers Conference offers an exceptional experience with an array of authors and experts in November of 2024.

LĪHULĪE, KAUAI, HAWAII, May 8, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Black Château, a leading marketing and public relations firm specializing in promoting authors and literary events, announces its alignment with the 2024 Kauai Writers Conference. Scheduled for November 11-17, 2024, the conference celebrates its ten-year anniversary. It will feature master classes, one-on-one sessions, and a comprehensive program designed to foster the craft of writing and enhance the career goals of attendees.

Black Château’s involvement is a significant addition to our mission of nurturing talent and cultivating deep connections within the literary community.”

David Katz, Director of the Kauai Writers Conference

David Katz, Director of the Kauai Writers Conference, says, “Black Château’s involvement is a significant addition to our mission of nurturing talent and cultivating deep connections within the literary community. We’re excited to welcome them this year as we celebrate ten amazing years bringing this conference to the writers of the world.”

Desireé Duffy, Founder of Black Château and The BookFest, is also one of the speakers at The Kauai Writers Conference. Additionally, the Kauai Writers Conference is being cross promoted with The BookFest. The BookFest, which is a virtual conference, happens again in October of 2024. David Katz is scheduled to speak at The BookFest. Plus there will be other cross-promotional activities between the two complimenting conferences.

Duffy says, “The Kauai Writers Conference is set in one of the most beautiful and inspiring locations in the world. As they celebrate their ten-year anniversary, our BookFest is poised to celebrate its 10th online bookish adventure, making our collaboration especially meaningful. It's all about supporting storytellers in all their magnificent forms. We are ecstatic to do that alongside David Katz and his outstanding team."

The Kauai Writers Conference offers an immersive experience that blends writing education with exceptional networking opportunities. Attendees are given exclusive access to learn directly from bestselling authors. Plus, they also are provided opportunities to meet literary agents and to network with publishers.

Notable confirmed speakers at this year's Kauai Writers Conference include:

Christina Baker Kline, best known for her novel "Orphan Train"

Lauren Groff, celebrated for her novels such as "Fates and Furies"

Marta Kauffman, co-creator of the iconic TV show "Friends"
