In a move that echoes its commitment to community empowerment, LOCAL City Places is offering this program entirely free of charge to nonprofits, marking a departure from traditional fundraising methods with demands on their members' time and money. With the nonprofit or religious organization receiving a dedicated iOS and Android app for communication and fundraising management, this initiative represents a paradigm shift in fundraising strategy and execution.

At LOCAL City Places, we believe in the power of technology to drive positive change in communities.”

Troy Warren

Troy Warren, CEO of LOCAL City Places, expressed his enthusiasm for this groundbreaking venture, stating, "At LOCAL City Places, we believe in the power of technology to drive positive change in communities. Our Nonprofit and Religious Sector not only offers a seamless fundraising experience but also empowers organizations to connect with their members in a meaningful and impactful way."

The program leverages the pervasiveness of online reviews, tapping into the fact that over half of the internet-connected community already regularly engages in review activities. This unique approach transforms the act of leaving reviews into a powerful tool for supporting nonprofit and religious causes, with members contributing effortlessly while engaging in everyday online activities they are already doing.

Additionally, members participating in the fundraising campaign have the opportunity to generate additional income for themselves, creating a win-win scenario where community support is coupled with personal benefit.

"This initiative goes far beyond traditional fundraising models," Warren remarked. "By harnessing the collective power of online reviews, we're not only helping organizations raise funds but we are also fostering community engagement and empowerment."

As LOCAL City Places continues to push the boundaries of innovation in local search and community support, the launch of the Nonprofit and Religious Sector represents a significant milestone in its journey. Through this initiative, LOCAL City Places is poised to make a lasting impact on nonprofit and religious organizations nationwide, ushering in a new era of fundraising excellence.
