The event offers a unique evening of networking and insight exchange among leading C-level executives. After last year's fully booked event and overwhelming demand, 'GrowBoat - By Night' is anticipated to be one of the most exclusive marketing networking events of the year.

Event highlights:

□ Exclusive circles: An evening of fine dining and open dialogue among peers, fostering lasting professional bonds.

I Networking with industry leaders: Engage directly and openly in one-on-one discussions with industry leaders to tackle unique business challenges, fostering lasting solutions and partnerships.

A special word from the founder and Admiral:

"We are very excited to host our second GrowBoat in Berlin. Last year, it was a huge success, and this year we've decided to make it even bigger, with some surprises for the attendees. You have to be there to find out what exactly." said Andre Kempe, CEO and Founder of Admiral Media. "Having sailed the GrowBoat for the last five years, it's with great pleasure I can announce we are currently expanding to new cities for bigger and better networking events. Our attendees and partners love this authentic and genuine format, a stark contrast to the usual networking events."

Testimonials from previous GrowBoat attendees:

"As someone who has been to many meet-ups, GrowBoat's unique approach of holding its participants captive on a ship in the middle of the ocean did wonders for promoting interesting conversations. So whether you like tanning on deck or chatting about eCPMs, GrowBoat is for you!" Adam Jaffe, CEO at Mega Studios.

"The gathering with only C Level was great! People were open and it was great to hear different experiences. This is not common, especially in Canada. I'm doing business with one of them now! A longer event would have been even better". Simon Alex Bérubé, Investor & Founder of BetterSleep.
