Technologies, Inc. dba ComputerLand of Silicon Valley (ComputerLand), an innovative value-added reseller in Silicon Valley empowering businesses with enterprise-level IT service to deliver customize solutions, has been acquired by ISSQUARED Inc., a leading provider of cloud, cyber security, infrastructure, digital transformation, and consulting services.

ComputerLand was represented by IT ExchangeNet, a leader in mid-market IT mergers and acquisitions focusing on leading channel partners, VARs, MSPs and MSSPs.

"This acquisition represents an important step for ISSQUARED as we solidify our position as a comprehensive technology products and solutions provider," said Bala Ramaiah, CEO and founder of ISSQUARED. "CCT's expertise across a wide range of technology practices complements our core cybersecurity, infrastructure and product offerings.

ISSQUARED's acquisition of CCT is a strategic move to continue expanding in the state, local government and higher education markets, while also bringing a wider range of services to the combined client base.

Connie Tang, CEO of Computerland said, "we are confident we found the ideal partner in ISSQUARED to ensure the continued success of our employees and customers. IT ExchangeNet's expertise in identifying more than 60 qualified buyers, and managing the sales process, was instrumental in achieving this successful outcome."
