It is designed to both complement existing health insurance, (reducing out-of-pocket expenses, especially for those with high annual deductibles) and provide invaluable access to care for families without insurance.

Mark Geiger, Co-Founder & Managing Partner of Revolt Healthcare Corporation stated, "Our research clearly indicated consumers want a subscription model for their healthcare just like they have with Netflix and Spotify. They want a low and predictable monthly cost for their basic healthcare needs and our new network gives them exactly what they want."

Based in Texas, the Revolt Healthcare Network is set to transform the healthcare industry by removing common barriers, such as high deductibles, complicated billing practices, and restricted access to necessary services. This service is particularly beneficial for individuals and families who find traditional health insurance unaffordable or overly complex, as well as for those who want to enhance their Medicare experience.

The "Cost Plus Drugs" box shows a total of $22.20 for 90-day supply, while the "Revolt Health Network" box shows a total of $4.99 for the same supply. A small note below the network box states "Drugs are cheaper even when you add the cost of the actual Rx membership." At the bottom, it lists included services: Telemedicine, Quest Labs, and Hospital Bill Negotiation, with a disclaimer: "This Is NOT Insurance - No Social OR Application Required!"
