

Compliance and Beyond: Preparing Leaders for the EU's New ESRS Reporting & Due Diligence Requirements

New EU sustainability rules for businesses. Gain expertise and navigate the new regulations with CSE's training program.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, UNITED STATES, May 16, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ --

The recent approval of the European Union's Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence Directive (CSDD) marks a significant step towards integrating environmental and human rights considerations into business practices. This directive, impacting an estimated 5,300 companies, underscores the growing importance of Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) factors.

However, navigating this new regulatory landscape can be complex. Businesses face not only potential legal risk, but also a critical opportunity to build a more sustainable and resilient future.

CSE's Latest Research Points to the Power of Strategic ESG Integration

The latest research by the Center for Sustainability and Excellence (CSE) reveals a clear link between strong ESG strategies and financial performance. Companies with well-defined ESG practices are better equipped to manage risks and enhance market resilience. As investor focus on ESG intensifies, this translates to a competitive advantage.

To address the growing demand for ESG expertise, CSE offers the Europe | Certified Sustainability \(ESG\) Practitioner Program, Leadership Edition 2024. This program, attended by over 90% of FORTUNE 500 senior managers and VPs, equips leaders with the knowledge and skills to navigate the evolving regulatory environment.

Focus on New European Sustainability Reporting Standards (ESRS)

A key feature of the program is its in-depth exploration of the upcoming ESRS standards. These new regulations mandate the preparation of standardized Sustainability Development Reports for a significant number of companies starting in 2024. Understanding and complying with ESRS will be critical for businesses operating within the EU.

Limited-Time Offer: Get Certified and Future-Proof Your Business

Europe | Certified Sustainability (ESG) Practitioner Program, Leadership Edition 2024 takes place on June 13, 14 & 17, 2024. Secure your spot and gain a competitive edge with our special 20% discount using code 20CSE (valid until 23/5/2024).
