

Dave Brown USA Brings Indie Night Film Festival Home to the Bay Area, Making Its San Francisco Debut on June 1

Two-time NAACP Award-winning actor Morris Chestnut will host the Indie Night Film Festival at AMC Kabuki 8 Theatre

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, USA, May 15, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Get ready for an unforgettable cinematic experience as the Indie Night Film Festival returns for its 12th season on June 1, 2024, with an electrifying celebration and screening in San Francisco. Proudly sponsored by Dream Keeper initiative San Francisco Human Rights Commission, the event will be hosted by 2x NAACP actor Morris Chestnut.

Red Carpet:11:00 AM / Showtime:12:00 PM

Founded by Veteran Filmmaker Dave Brown USA in 2012, the Indie Night Film Festival has blossomed into a beacon for independent filmmakers, fostering connections within the industry, showcasing diverse talent, and providing a platform for filmmakers to share their stories with appreciative audiences.

Each week, at the Los Angeles festival, it curates a captivating lineup of submissions, ranging from short films and documentaries to web series episodes and pilots. What sets Indie Night apart is its commitment to inclusivity, attracting top-tier talent alongside emerging filmmakers, making every screening a dynamic blend of creativity and community.

The festival's success in Los Angeles prompted Brown to take the show on the road, bringing Indie Night to cities across the country, starting with Atlanta last year. During the inaugural

About DaveBrownUSA: Raised in San Francisco, Dave Brown's passion for storytelling was ignited by his father, Dr. Rev. Amos Brown, a legendary civil rights activist and president of the San Francisco branch of the NAACP. A graduate of Morehouse College, Brown started his journey to Hollywood, where he found inspiration and mentorship from friend and industry veteran actor Morris Chestnut.

In 2012, Brown's vision came to life with the founding of the Indie Night Film Festival, defying skeptics and critics to become a thriving hub for creativity and connection. Along the way, he forged friendships with luminaries like Jamie Foxx and earned accolades including the HAPA Award John Singleton Award, Presidential Lifetime Achievement Award signed by Joe Biden for his philanthropic endeavors. With a doctorate in Entertainment and Media Studies, Brown continues to champion diversity and innovation in the entertainment industry, leaving an indelible mark on the world of film.
