Healthcare Art Consulting & Quality Art House (HAC & QAH) Refocus on Regulatory Signage Expertise

DALLAS, TX, US, May 16, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Healthcare Art Consulting & Quality Art House (HAC & QAH), leaders in providing visual communication solutions, today announced a new focus on their expertise in regulatory signage for healthcare facilities. Known for their tailored approach, HAC & QAH specialize in creating regulatory signage that not only complies with standards but also aligns seamlessly with the aesthetic and functional needs of healthcare environments.

Expertise in Regulatory Signage for Healthcare Facilities

Our team ensures that every signage project not only meets the strict standards required in healthcare settings but also enhances the space visually.”

Sara Beth Joyner

Navigating the complexities of regulatory requirements in healthcare settings, HAC & QAH offer comprehensive and compliant signage solutions without compromising on design. Their service includes consultation on the best types of frames and installation methods suited to the specific architectural features of each facility. Whether dealing with traditional drywall or more challenging surfaces like tile and stone walls, HAC & QAH's adaptability in installation ensures that each signage project is executed flawlessly.

- Custom Frame Selection: HAC & QAH help clients choose frames that complement the style of their facility, enhancing the overall decor while meeting regulatory standards.

- Ease of Updating Signage: Understanding the dynamic nature of healthcare information, they design signage systems that allow for easy updates, accommodating the need for frequent changes without requiring complete replacements.
- Diverse Installation Styles: The company's expertise extends to various installation methods, ensuring secure and aesthetically pleasing setups on any wall type, including challenging surfaces like tile and stone.

A Commitment to Compliance and Aesthetics

"We pride ourselves on blending regulatory compliance with aesthetic excellence," said Sara Beth Joyner, President of HAC & QAH. "Our team ensures that every signage project not only meets the strict standards required in healthcare settings but also enhances the space visually."

Mercedes Burton, Director of Design at HAC & QAH, added, "Our approach is to provide signage solutions that are not only practical and compliant but also well integrated into the healthcare environment. We understand the importance of creating spaces that feel welcoming and calming for patients and staff, and our signage solutions are a part of achieving that atmosphere."
