highest standards of excellence and integrity.

"I have been working in the world of photography for 80 years, however, I have never found a situation like this in any city in Italy," said Italian photography legend Nino Migliori about his experience at Trieste Photo Days.

This year, URBAN Photo Awards is honored to have Magnum photographer Harry Gruyaert as the jury president. Gruyaert, along with a panel of esteemed industry professionals, including Adam Pretty and Paul Gadd, will meticulously select winners from thousands of submitted images. The competition has a proud history of collaborating with legendary photographers such as Susan Meiselas, Nino Migliori, Martin Parr, Bruce Gilden, and Alec Soth, underlining its commitment to maintaining the URBAN Photo Awards offers a unique opportunity for photographers to have their work exhibited at Trieste Photo Days, one of Europe's most prominent photography festivals. This platform allows participants to connect with audiences and fellow professionals from across the continent. The €37,000 prize pool will be distributed among seven distinct title awards, with winners receiving trophies and medals crafted by Giorgio Celiberti, the youngest artist ever showcased at the Venice Biennale.

With a variety of categories, including Projects & Portfolios, Book, Zine, and Press Award, URBAN Photo Awards provides numerous opportunities for emerging talents to be discovered. Under 35 photographers can participate in URBAN Photo Arena, a free contest dedicated to the next generation. Additionally, participants can upload their first photo for free in the Single Photo category, which features four sections: Streets, People, Spaces, and Creative.
