

Claros Analytics Launches Redesigned Website

PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY, UNITED STATES, May 21, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Claros Analytics, the healthcare industry's premier actuarial software firm, is excited to announce the launch of its redesigned website.

Claros Analytics Logo

The redesign aims to improve the user experience and make it easier for website visitors to learn how Claros Analytics' solutions can help them advance their business through better insight into health plan costs. New features include a modern look and feel, a more mobile-friendly interface, individual product pages, additional client resources, revised content, and updated information about the new suite of web applications.

"The updated website reflects Claros Analytics' growth and increased prominence throughout the healthcare industry. In the past year, we have welcomed 24 additional client companies, launched a new community for our clients to facilitate industry connections, and completed the migration of our software applications to the web." – Todd Owen, CEO
