Jody Thompson, the founder of Ducklings Early Learning Centers, with over 30 years in childcare and early education, has led the brand to flourish from a single center to a successful legacy franchise brand with fourteen open locations, and more in the pipeline. Their plan for purposeful growth is centered out of their home base in West Chester, PA, expanding from that central point across the mid-Atlantic states in order to ensure excellent support and brand recognition for their franchisees. "We are excited to be a part of the Chestnut Run Innovation and Science Park campus. Ducklings and CRISP are a perfect match!" says Sarah Vannello M. Ed., Ducklings' Director of Curriculum. "Our curriculum is based in Growth Mind-set, the idea that the next breakthrough is just around the corner if you keep at it and believe in yourself-something I'm sure most scientist can relate to". This will be the second location in Delaware for the childcare brand; Ducklings Whitehall opened this past January in The Town of Whitehall in Middletown, DE. "After the warm welcome we received at our Whitehall school, we were happy to add to add more Ducks to Delaware", said

Jody Thompson. When asked about the Chestnut Run location, Thompson responded, "This is simply an exceptional campus and we are pleased to be part of it ". The Chestnut Run center, designed for full-day fun and learning, will be open for the care of children aged 6 weeks to 6 years and will feature an indoor gym, children's library, and separate playground space for toddlers and preschoolers.
