MRG Security Service strives to eliminate concerns for hosts and ensure that security is not something they have to worry about. This is achieved by creating airtight security plans in advance of events by working closely with onsite partners and researching potential risk factors. MRG offers a professional yet discreet service with all agents approachable and able to interact with guests, when appropriate, in a professional manner. Each security agent is dressed uniformly, well-groomed, and completely up to date with their training and licensing.

MRG handles events ranging from intimate dinner parties to large-scale productions including concerts, festivals, charity events, and more. MRG security staff members are highly familiar with the Hamptons, with MRG specializing in securing events in Southampton, East Hampton, Montauk, Sag Harbor, and other event hot spots in between.

Current and Past global and corporate MRG clients have included the UFC, G-III Apparel Group, Flo Sports, Calvin Klein, Nike, Microsoft, American Express, and Verizon. MRG security agents can be found by the side of many celebrities each summer in the Hamptons with past clients including Jimmy Fallon (The Tonight Show), Bobby Shmurda (Hip Hop performer), Jill Zarin (The Real Housewives of New York City), and other A-list celebs.

In addition to its robust event security team, MRG also provides crowd managers and fire watch for events. Crowd Managers are important assets for events in many east-end Long Island towns as municipalities have ordinances requiring them. Most events in the Hamptons require the host to file for a permit and to hire private security if there will be over 250 attendees. If there are more than 500 guests, Crowd Managers are required to be deployed. MRG has expertise in
