Winning teams included Owens Corning Lumber with four catches and a $16,000 payout was led by Captain William Rinehold, Target Roofing with Captain Tyler Carner had three catches and Sunstate Mobile Marine with Captain Shane Earhart had two catches.

Highlights from the event included a patriot paratrooper team landing on Sunset Beach with American Flags in tow while crowds around them cheered and the Lee County Honor Guard commenced the event with a Presentation of Colors and 21-gun salute along with a local bagpiper.

The dinner was a relaxed and moving evening that consisted of barbecue and touching stories. Ashlyn McCain, a Folds of Honor scholarship recipient shared her personal story of loss, and the profound impact of her scholarship allowing her to pursue an education at her desired university and further her studies. Michael Anderson, host of Reel Animals TV who is an Air Force veteran served as the event's emcee. CEO of Timbers Company, Greg Spencer shared his background as an Air Force veteran. Cecil Pendergrass who served Fort Myers as a first responder for 25 years and now sits on the Lee Board of County Commissioners – District 2 and serves as Chairman of the Board shared an inspirational speech.

“This was a fun tarpon tournament, and it was amazing to see South Seas come back to life with this tournament. The support and energy were tremendous. Special thank you to Curran Young Construction, MHK Architecture, Wheelock Street Capital, and Marine Max as our title sponsors,” says South Seas General Manager, Shawn Farrell. “We are looking forward to growing the number of teams and payout in 2025.”

The annual South Seas Tarpon Tournament will take place on Friday of Memorial Day weekend moving forward. Sponsorship details for the 2025 tournament will be available in August at southseas.com/tarpon.

Since 2007, Folds of Honor has awarded over 52,000 educational scholarships making a $244 million educational impact. This year's South Seas Tarpon Tournament will premiere on a future episode of the popular fishing show, Reel Animals.

Only 45 minutes, yet a world away, Captiva Island is connected to Florida's mainland via Sanibel Causeway and a small bridge over
