Realty does not measure success through achievements or awards received, but through the satisfaction of their Realtors, clients and community.

Smith began his Real Estate Career in 2008, when he saw two separate agents fail to sell his Financial services clients' $2,500,000.00 home after each were provided with six-month listing agreements. When his clients asked him to sell if for them, he immediately became licensed and sold their home for them within two weeks.

While he's exclusively bought and sold homes for family members, friends, clients and referrals since that time, he's decided to provide his unique sales, influence and negotiations skillsets to new clients through MVP Realty as well.
