"When a book is over 600 pages, has 13,000-plus citations, and instantly hits the New York Times bestseller list, you have quite an outstanding author. It is an honor to have Dr. Michael Greger speak to The BookFest community about his remarkable book, insights to health and wellness, and of course to answer questions live from the audience about 'How Not to Age'," says Desireé Duffy, founder of The BookFest.

In his presentation, Dr. Michael Greger will delve into the eleven pathways of aging in our cells and share how we can disrupt them to potentially live longer and healthier lives. He breaks down the impact diet has on aging and cites highlights from his book "How Not to Age".
