

Orange House: Safeguarding Family Health Starts with Choosing Natural Home Cleaning

TAIWAN, CHINA, June 3, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In today's health-conscious society, the importance of household cleaning products often goes unrecognized. However, the hidden dangers of industrial and chemical-based cleaners are raising concerns about their impact on family health.

Are Consumers Prioritizing Family Health?

Many households prioritize cleanliness but overlook the health risks posed by everyday cleaning products. Chemical components such as fluorescent agents, fragrances, and synthetic detergents not only linger on utensils, clothing, and household surfaces during everyday use but may also enter the body through the skin and respiratory tract, posing long-term risks to the health of children and entire families. Therefore, choosing safe, natural household cleaning products becomes particularly important.

health and gaining wide market recognition.

Why Choose Natural Household Cleaning Products?

With its outstanding advantages in product ingredients, technology, certification, and diverse product range, Orange House offers consumers a series of safe and efficient cleaning products. From the selection of natural ingredients to technology-guarded research and development, and from trustworthy certifications to a comprehensive range of products, Orange House is committed to providing the highest quality cleaning solutions for families.

Orange House

Safe Selection with Natural Ingredients

Orange House's laundry detergent uses special natural food-grade certified orange oil, with the extraction process free from any chemical additives, no addition of chemical components during production, and no heating to damage the purity and activity of the orange oil. Additionally, Orange House's orange oil is ISO22000 internationally certified for food safety management, ensuring compliance with food safety standards and achieving the quality of natural edible-grade.

Moreover, through the technology of natural orange oil cleaning essence, combined with efficient sterilization formulas, Orange House has been proven to effectively remove common pathogenic bacteria, including Staphylococcus aureus, Escherichia coli, Pseudomonas aeruginosa, Klebsiella pneumoniae, and Moraxella catarrhalis. This technological innovation not only effectively removes dirt but also ensures the health and safety of the household environment, providing consumers with a more reassuring cleaning experience.

In addition to paying attention to ingredient labeling, Consumers should scrutinize ingredient labels and production standards when choosing cleaning products. Some products touted as natural may only add a small amount of natural substances to their ingredients, while the main components may still be synthetic chemicals. Therefore, consumers should consider the natural ingredient content, production processes, and whether they have passed relevant certifications and inspections when making purchases. It is also recommended to choose products with clear indications of ingredients such as "food-grade certification" and "natural plant," among others.

Technology Guarding for Reassuring Selection

Orange House has a significant advantage in product technology, using distinctive micellar technology combined with technological orange oil to give products powerful cleaning capabilities. This highly active technological orange oil retains the maximum scale-removing activity, able to penetrate fibers, effectively remove dirt, and also clean tiny bacteria. Furthermore, the product demonstrates strong cleaning power, possessing cleaning efficacy against various viruses, including influenza virus A H1N1, human coronavirus Hcov-229E, and avian infectious bronchitis virus IBV, providing comprehensive protection for consumer health.

Multiple Certifications for Confident Selection

To provide consumers with reliable choices, Orange House has made great efforts in product certification. Firstly, its products select imported high-quality oranges, free from harmful substances such as fluorescent agents, and leave no residue after washing, especially suitable for baby clothes. Secondly, all product raw materials are traceable and have passed international certifications, undergoing 100 strict processes and independent inspections to ensure quality. Additionally, Orange House's full range of products has passed safety standard certifications from four major authoritative institutions in the European Union and Taiwan, providing consumers with a higher level of reassurance.

Diverse Products for Consumer Selection

Orange House has built a rich product system including laundry, dishwashing, kitchen, bathroom, and household categories, covering various aspects of life. The series of star products such as natural orange oil dishwashing liquid and natural orange oil laundry detergent provide consumers with comprehensive protection. From the consumption of fruits and vegetables to the utensils for food, from the clothes on the skin to the environment where children grow up, Orange House products are everywhere, ensuring that every family can enjoy a clean and safe home life, allowing consumers to eat and wear at ease, providing comprehensive protection for family health.

Conclusion

In today's world, natural home cleaning is essential for safeguarding family health. With a commitment to natural health, Orange House is dedicated to helping families create clean and safe living environments. It's the new choice for families prioritizing health and cleanliness.
