

Mathispace Officially Appoints Yanis Dupont as the CPO to Lead the Team in Creating a New Ecosystem for the Metaverse

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, June 10, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mathispace, a leading company at the forefront of digital innovation, is delighted to announce the appointment of Yanis Dupont as the Chief Product Officer (CPO). With an impressive track record in pioneering ventures and transformative leadership roles, Yanis brings a dynamic blend of entrepreneurial prowess and strategic acumen to Mathispace.

Yanis Dupont is a seasoned professional known for his expertise in empowering organisations to leverage AI, the Metaverse, and Web3 technologies to unlock boundless potential. His journey encompasses pioneering ventures as a startup founder and pivotal roles such as interim Chief Commercial Officer at a prominent European Telco, where he spearheaded transformative initiatives that reshaped the industry landscape.

"I am thrilled to join Mathispace and lead the team in creating a new ecosystem for the Metaverse," said Yanis Dupont. "My passion lies in navigating the complex intersections of emerging trends and driving tangible results that shape the future of digital innovation."

Beyond operational leadership, Yanis actively contributes as an investor and advisor to a diverse array of tech enterprises. His expertise spans Web3, the Metaverse, VR, blockchain, and conversational commerce, offering invaluable insights and guidance that foster innovation and sustainable growth.

"Energised by the relentless evolution of technology, I am excited to collaborate with Mathispace and explore the endless possibilities of tomorrow's digital frontier together," Yanis added.
