Sustainability Dialogues on the Financial Industry

MUMBAI, MAHARASHTRA, INDIA, June 4, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IICSR and Sustainability knowledge management (IICSR), in association with Khaitan Legal Associates (KLA), organised Sustainability Dialogues for the Financial industry, which was attended by Mr V Chandrashekar, Indian Banking Association; Anjalee Tarapowerwala, HDFC Bank; Abhejit Agrawal, Axis Bank, Dr Vidyadhar Prabhudesai, Leadcap Knowledge solutions; Sanjeev Mathur, Nokia; Sakate Khaitan, Sanjeev Singhal, and Sangeeta Jhunjunwala from KLA, Vishal Vengurlekar and Nitisha Kerkar and Harsha Saxena from IICSR in person and many others virtually.

The discussions revolved around the present sustainability challenges faced by financial institutions. Some highlighted points were the need to define sustainability terms, build capabilities at the Board level, and establish a central repository for all ESG data. The high price of the products under green finance deteriorates consumer demand. Although there are many solutions to achieve sustainability, the ones deliberated were to develop Indian emission norms, non-monetary incentivisation to the stakeholders to do good, and adopting project funding were discussed.

As a future course of action, IICSR has opened up to crowdsourcing ideas for sustainable solutions for the financial sector, which can be submitted via email. The outcomes of the discussions will be published as a white paper and submitted to the concerned stakeholders. Sustainability dialogues is a monthly feature that addresses sustainability issues in Indian industries.
