In response to the staffing crisis, Senators Durbin and Duckworth Congressman Sorensen have demanded that the pay for law enforcement officers and staff at Thomson Federal Prison be restored. They have recognized these individuals' critical role in maintaining the safety and security of the prison and ensuring the well-being of inmates. The senators have also expressed concern about the impact of the staffing shortage on the local community, as many residents are employed at the prison and rely on it for their livelihood.

Thomson Federal Prison urgently needs qualified and dedicated staff to fill the 124 vacant positions. The decision to de fund their pay will have a impact on the prison and its ability to fulfill its mission. The restoration of pay for law enforcement officers and staff is crucial for the prison's smooth functioning and its inmates' well-being. The community and the Senators are calling on the Director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons to take immediate action to address this staffing crisis at Thomson Federal Prison.

“

It is critical that BOP leadership prioritizes retention and recruitment efforts to incentivize employees to continue working at the facility and to help the prison run safely and effectively”
