Villaview's app offers a unique, user-centric approach to Home Buying and renting, emphasizing direct communication between buyers, renters, and sellers. This independent platform operates outside traditional real estate structures, such as the National Association of Realtors (NAR) and Multiple Listing Service (MLS), championing a free market ethos.

The mission of Villaview is to utilize the efficiency of modern-day technology and help provide and distribute valuable information by connecting the buyers and sellers saving each time and money.”

Jacob Brignolo - App Creator

“The mission of my Villaview app is to utilize the efficiency of modern-day technology and help provide and distribute valuable information by connecting buyers, renters, and sellers, saving both time and money,” says Jacob Brignolo, the creator of Villaview.

Villaview is designed for ease of use. Buyers and renters can simply download the app, create a profile, and instantly begin browsing through a diverse selection of properties. They can categorize their preferences and connect with sellers directly to ask questions, schedule showings, and negotiate offers within the secure platform using the integrated messaging system.

Key features for a streamlined experience include:

Direct Messaging Platform:

Communicate directly and efficiently with sellers and landlords without intermediaries. Ask questions, discuss offers, and schedule visits conveniently within the app.

Personalized Property Listings: Create detailed profiles of properties, including high-quality photos, descriptions, and selling points, or showcase the available rental property's unique features. Buyers and renters can search listings based on specific needs, filtering by location, price, size, and other preferences.

Real-Time Notifications: Stay informed with instant updates. Get updates on properties of interest, replies from sellers and landlords, and new listings that match.

Realtor and Seller Profiles: Detailed profiles showcase listings, professional backgrounds, and contact information. This fosters trust and facilitates smoother transactions, offering buyers and renters a more comprehensive range of property options.

"The Villaview app is designed to democratize the real estate market," explains Brignolo. "By fostering direct communication and transparency, we empower buyers, renters, and sellers to navigate the process with greater confidence and control."

Whether listing as a realtor or for sale by owner, Villaview offers a simple, efficient listing/viewing process for all users, prioritizing communication and transparency.

Sellers can create detailed profiles and personalized listings, showcasing their properties with high-quality photos, descriptions, and unique Home Selling points. Real-time notifications keep
