Zeolites: Demand surges for these molecular sieves in purification”

Exactitude Consultancy

The zeolite market is expected to grow at 6.2% CAGR from 2023 to 2030. It is expected to reach above USD 20.11 Billion by 2030 from USD 12.6 Billion in 2024.

Zeolite is a solid crystalline structure made of aluminosilicates containing alumina and silica. This mineral has different dimensional channels and pores responsible for its chemical and physical properties. Molecular sieves mainly occur naturally and as minerals are made synthetically. According to the United States Geological Survey, more than 200 distinct product frameworks were identified across the world, among which 40 are naturally occurring.

Every molecular sieve thus obtained is inspected by the International Zeolite Association (IZA) Structure Commission and given a three-letter designation. Increasing consumer consciousness toward health and hygiene has augmented the production of high-quality and environment-friendly detergents, thus boosting the global zeolite market growth.

The report includes the following key findings:

The “Global Zeolites Market” study report will provide a valuable insight with an emphasis on the global market including some of the major players such as Albemarle Corporation, BASF, Clariant International, KMI Zeolite, Zeolyst International, Honeywell International Inc., Tosoh Corporation, NALCO, KNT Group, Arkema, Huiying Chemical Industry Co. Ltd. and Others...

The study also includes:

This study forecasts revenue at global, regional, and country levels from 2024 to 2030. Exactitude Consultancy has segmented the global Zeolites market based on the below-mentioned segments:

Zeolites Market By Type, 2023-2030, (USD Billion), (Kilotons)

Natural

Synthetic

Zeolites Market By Application, 2023-2030, (USD Billion), (Kilotons)

Catalyst

Adsorbent

Detergents

Zeolites Market By End-Users, 2023-2030, (USD Billion), (Kilotons)

Water Treatment

Air Purification

Agriculture

Construction

Others

North America dominated the market and held the largest revenue share of more than 22.0% in 2021. Growth in animal feed and petrochemicals production are the driving forces behind increasing product consumption in the region. The region ranked third in the global feed production in 2020, which was 237.2 million tons, which is 1% more than 2019. The U.S. and Mexico are among the top feed-producing countries in the world. In Asia Pacific, the market is anticipated to witness high growth owing to the development of new petrochemical plants, water recycling plants, demand for detergents, and rising cement and animal feed production.
