In 2015, Picasso began suffering from debilitating seizures. Standard treatments like gabapentin and phenobarbital offered little relief. Desperate for a solution, Picasso's owners turned to Batch Full Spectrum CBD Oil from the Kentucky Cannabis Company. Under professional guidance, Picasso was gradually weaned off other medications and started on a regimen of full spectrum CBD oil. The results were nothing short of miraculous—Picasso's seizures diminished, and he began

The video showcases:

- Picasso's battle with seizures and his path to recovery
- The benefits of full spectrum CBD oil for inflammation, pain, anxiety, sleep, and seizures
- The effectiveness of natural full spectrum CBD from hemp compared to synthetic cannabinoids like delta-8 and delta-9

Bill Polyniak, Owner of Kentucky Cannabis Company, shares his thoughts on this remarkable story:

"It is heartwarming to see the amazing benefits of quality full spectrum CBD oil. Watching Picasso's transformation reaffirms our mission. It warms my heart to see humans, pets, and even horses receive the benefits of the products we've created here at the Kentucky Cannabis Company. Knowing that our products are strong enough for a horse and still safe for children and adults is an awesome feeling. This is what we strive for every day."

Picasso's story is not just a testament to the effectiveness of Batch Full Spectrum CBD Oil, but also a call to support policies that allow farmers to grow the proper hemp for the proper product. The current .3% THC narrative has limited the quality of CBD products and led to the proliferation of less effective lab-made knockoffs. This limit should be raised to exceed 1% in cultivation of hemp. For the cannabis hemp industry to thrive and provide genuine wellness solutions, we need regulations that support the natural growth of high-quality, full spectrum hemp extracts, rich in cannabinoids and terpenoids.
