A NIGHT IN JERUSALEM tells the dramatic story of a distinguished, Harvard educated Palestinian, who against all odds, seeks peace with Israel.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, August 1, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dean Productions Theatre Company and Premier the Play is thrilled to announce the World Premier Audio Podcast of A NIGHT IN JERUSALEM, a compelling and timely drama, written by award-winning playwright, Marc Aronoff.

The play delves into a powerful story of love and betrayal surrounding a distinguished Palestinian who dares to speak of peace with Israel. During this full-length three-act drama, a modern-day Sabbath dinner is unfolding in Jerusalem. But this is no ordinary gathering. When Salah, a Harvard-educated Palestinian seeking peace with Israel unexpectedly arrives at the invitation of his girlfriend, the evening turns into a web of political intrigue rooted in idealism and radical differences.

Set against a backdrop of the present-day Middle East, A NIGHT IN JERUSALEM takes the audience on a gripping journey of courage, resilience, and the enduring human spirit, telling the little-known story of a Palestinian "Normalizer." Over the course of one dinner, the play explores themes of conflict, reconciliation, and the universal desire for peace in a region torn apart by decades of strife.

Marc Aronoff's masterful storytelling and deep insight into the complexities of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict make A NIGHT IN JERUSALEM a must-see production for theater enthusiasts
