Monika also captivated audiences with her performance of the aria "O mio Babbino Caro" by Giacomo Puccini during the Oscar's Luxury Gala at the Hilton Hotel in Universal City, CA. This performance exemplified her remarkable vocal talent and added to the grandeur of the event.

Earlier this year, Monika mesmerized attendees at the "Lavender Gala" fashion show in Los Angeles. She had the privilege of opening for renowned couture fashion designer Kenneth Barlis, whose creations have graced Project Runway and adorned celebrities such as Alicia Keys. Monika's stirring rendition of "Nella Fantasia" by Ennio Morricone set a high standard for the evening's festivities.

Throughout the pageant, Monika's elegance and style shone brightly. She captivated the judges in an emerald green evening gown by Will Franco and honored her Polish heritage with a handcrafted costume by Ukrainian designer Olga Solovei, embellished with hand-painted poppy flowers and Swarovski crystals. Her victory was further accentuated by a custom-designed white dress from Australian label Alamour The Label, epitomizing her sophisticated fashion sense.

Monika's coronation as Mrs. Europe Global 2024 is a testament to her unique blend of physical beauty, artistic dedication, and multifaceted talents. This esteemed title paves the way for numerous opportunities, enabling her to inspire and enchant a worldwide audience.

As she embraces her new role, Monika Spruch is enthusiastic about engaging with a broader audience and leveraging her title for diverse opportunities:
