Her curatorial accomplishments include exhibitions at The National Art Center in Tokyo, The Chiba City Museum of Art, and the Tokyo Metropolitan Art Museum, among others.

Gavin Coates, from the Naturalist Gallery of Contemporary Art, shared his thoughts on Gorcey's "The Dreamer," which received an Honorable Mention award. He described the painting as featuring a solitary figure with arms raised, suggesting surrender or deep contemplation. Coates praised light and shadow, highlighting the fluid motion captured in the figure's pose. He noted how the sparse use of color emphasized the subject's form and conveyed the emotion behind their posture, creating a universal sense of yearning or aspiration in the quest for meaning or liberation.

This event is a collaborative effort supported by the Japan and China Embassy of Culture in Japan. The International Art Exchange Exhibition and the Preparatory Committee are the hosts. The 23rd Japan International Art Exchange Exhibition is a testament to their shared commitment to celebrating international art and highlighting the dynamic interplay between American and Japanese art cultures.
