JJ Richa, Pismo Ventures.

Pismo Ventures also conducts Startup Symposiums that provide startups and founders with invaluable exposure to investors from across the nation. Several companies in previous events have received millions of dollars largely due to their participation and exposure to their investor network.

RealmlQ, known for its comprehensive support in strategy, product development, branding, and media training is taking its commitment to AI startups and Funding as a Service (FaaS) to the next level. The collaboration with Pismo Ventures extends RealmlQ's network of investors to 500+ early-stage angels, family offices, and venture capital firms.

“RealmlQ's focus on AI to accelerate business growth and help entrepreneurs be ready to solve real world applications makes them more attractive to the investment community. We are excited to partner with RealmlQ to help founders reach their ultimate goals”, said JJ Richa, founder and CEO of Pismo Ventures.

Curt Doty, founder of RealmIQ says, "We are excited to be able to advise our AI Founders with our expert track and then be able to take them to the next level with the Pismo Ventures team and help them go to market.

Our SmarTrack process begins with our network of investors challenges and opportunities to globally source, vet and curate proven startups offering market-tested products, services and solutions. We advise and enable the decision making paradigm for investors and innovators by understanding tech venture IP viability through a Freedom to Operate (FTO) scoring process."

Emerging startups and growth stage companies are invited to join the RealmIQ Alccelerator program based on the ability to efficiently and effectively solve founder pain points and market readiness, providing immediate value to potential investors.
