for Drive-In theatre entertainment. By promoting Drive-In communities both locally and nationally, the website intends to expand their Drive-In Fan Club, utilizing social media platforms to connect with other fans and theatre owners to become a one-stop shop for Drive-In theatre buffs and movie lovers alike. For those with the entrepreneurial spirit, the website will furnish information about buying and operating your very own Drive-In!

“We wanted to raise the bar when creating search engine functions that will enable Drive-In fans to find a theatre close-by, especially for those last-minute nighttime movie outings,” says Corey Tocchini, CEO of Mobile Moviegoing. Tocchini explained “Innovative Software-as-a-service (SaaS) for cinemas and movie entertainment has been our primary focus where we’ve excelled at developing a robust engagement from ticketing to concessions and subscriptions, so building a Drive-In fandom website for personal and professional interests is a natural fit. Leveraging the pinpoint accuracy of modern geolocation technologies, our platform allows Drive-in moviegoers to find a theatre in the vicinity, while providing several related services such as movie info, news, blogs and more! We look forward to continuing our history of working with Drive-In theatre owners, and we’re dedicated to not only preserving the Drive-In experience but enhancing as well.”

John Vincent, President of UDITOA, says “Drive-In theatre owners are thrilled to be teamed up with Mobile Moviegoing to create a centralized community for Drive-In fans and moviegoers nationwide. The technology platform that Mobile Moviegoing is providing UDITOA is not only an excellent resource for Drive-in enthusiasts, but it will also help Drive-in theatre owners support their ability to modernize and streamline the customer engagement experience.”

Watch for Drive-In event announcements including celebrity guest appearances, screenings of classic movies and more at Drive-In Theatres everywhere! UDITOA is currently in the planning stages of a Drive-In Theatre convention and tradeshow for fans and entrepreneurs interested in the Drive-In Theatre business, and future Drive-In Theatre owners will also find a listing of Drive-In Theatre sites for sale.
