Increase in demand for preserved food & beverages and several personal care products drives the growth of the global premium salicylic acid market. On the other hand, consumer awareness about certain harmful effects of the acid hampers the growth to some extent. However, high adoption of premium salicylic acid in pharmaceuticals and cosmetics and increase in demand for aspirin drugs are expected to create lucrative opportunities in the industry.

The key market players analyzed in the global premium salicylic acid market report include Avonchem limited, J.M. Loveridge Limited, Alfa Aesar, Reagents, Novacyl, Midas Pharma GmbH, Wego Chemical Group, and Solvay Merck KGaA. These market players have incorporated several strategies including partnership, expansion, collaboration, joint ventures, and others to brace their stand in the industry.
