Laravel hails back from 2011, and till date it has become one of the most essential and popular PHP framework that features clean, maintainable and efficient code. It is great for data manipulation due to its model-view-controller design. Other web app frameworks include Rails, React, Vue, and Angular – all of which use either Ruby or JavaScript.

It provides developers with the tools and features they need to build modern web applications, such as routing, validation, caching, queues, and file storage.
