Specializing in air duct cleaning and dryer vent cleaning, Clean Quality Air has helped keep the air flowing freely through ventilation systems for over a decade. The founder and CEO, Jeff, started the company with a vision of improving indoor environments and reducing common allergy triggers. Through meticulous work and a commitment to quality, Clean Quality Air has grown to become a highly trusted name for healthy air in Boynton Beach.

“

Boynton Beach allergies can be treated with air duct cleaning services. Clean Quality Air's duct cleaning removes dust, pollen & irritants for cleaner air & fewer allergy symptoms.”

This year, Clean Quality Air assessed how it could further its mission. Jeff and his team recognized an opportunity to offer additional services that complement duct cleaning. By addressing more aspects of indoor air, they can make an even greater positive impact on health and wellness.

Therefore, Clean Quality Air is pleased to unveil three new service lines in conjunction with air duct and vent cleaning services: filter replacement, dryer vent cleaning, and essential oil treatments for ducts and vents.

Air filter replacement ensures optimal performance of HVAC systems and keeps vents protected from excessive dust, dander, and pollen. Clogged or dirty filters obstruct airflow and decrease efficiency. Clean Quality Air technicians will now perform regular filter changes. This keeps homes and workplaces breathing easy all year round.

Dryer vents are often overlooked and can be a fire hazard. By routinely having dryer vents professionally cleaned, dryers work more efficiently with less potential for fire. This can save homeowners money on electric bills while protecting loved ones inside.

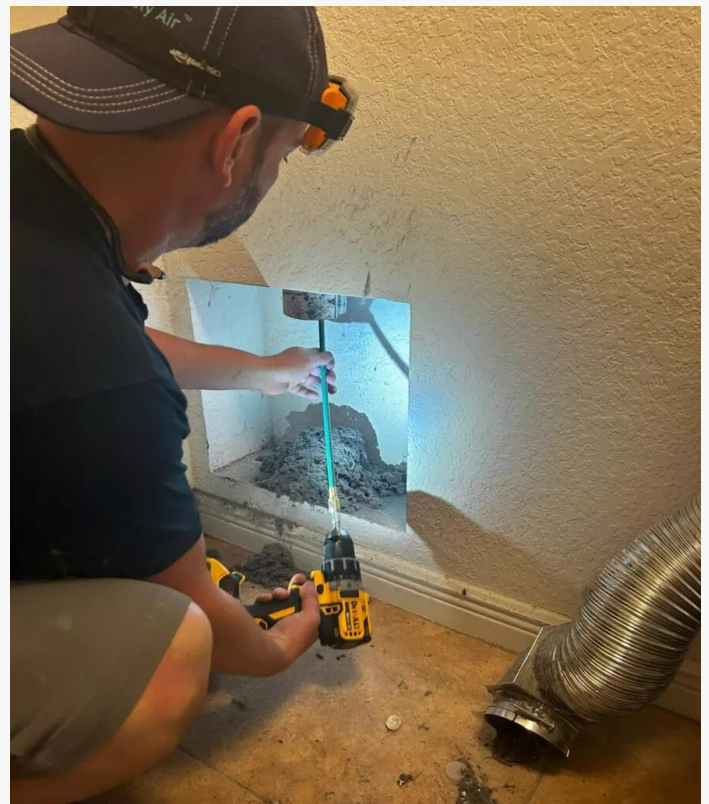

Jeff commented on the expanded offerings, "Our mission has always been to enhance indoor air quality through meticulous duct cleaning. We realized we could do more by addressing the many factors that influence air quality. The new services are a natural progression that leverages our expertise. It allows us to provide complete indoor environmental solutions under one trusted name."

Improving indoor air quality is more important than ever, especially as people spend more time at home. Poor ventilation has been linked to increased allergy symptoms, asthma, and other respiratory issues. Regular maintenance like duct cleaning removes contaminants before they circulate through the home.

A key benefit is alleviating spring allergies. As trees and plants release pollen into the air, indoor spaces can become breeding grounds if ventilation ducts are dirty. Trapped pollen particles continue to circulate and trigger sneezing and coughing. Fewer allergens mean relief from irritating and uncomfortable symptoms.

Businesses also deal with indoor air quality concerns. A dusty work environment can lower productivity and increase sick days. Commercial air ducts accumulate more dirt and debris from constant airflow. Clean Quality Air's specialized techniques remove buildup to enhance occupant well-being. Improved air leads to a healthier, happier workforce.

Looking ahead, Clean Quality Air's expansion positions them to serve an even wider range of indoor environmental needs. By taking a holistic approach and addressing total system health, they deliver maximum air quality returns on investment.

Homeowners, building owners, and tenants can all breathe easier knowing their indoor air is in competent, professional hands. Clean Quality Air remains committed to being Florida's trusted resource for clean, safe, allergen-free air.
