Working to strengthen technical collaboration and global marketing between both companies in the fields of speech recognition and reading

TOKYO, JAPAN, June 10, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- alt Inc.

(<https://alt.ai/en/>), the Japan-based developer and distributor of Personal Artificial Intelligence (P.A.I.®) and AI clone technology (head office: Minato-ku, Tokyo; CEO: Kazutaka Yonekura), is pleased to announce the beginning of both technical and business collaboration with Gladia (head office: Paris, France; CEO: Jean Louis Queguiner), developer of the industry-leading Audio Intelligence API.

alt.ai announces collaboration with France-based generative AI startup Gladia Working to strengthen technical collaboration and global marketing between both companies in the fields of speech recognition and reading

Based in France, Gladia provides a turnkey speech-to-text and audio intelligence API with next-gen audio LLM features. The company has received investment from New Wave and Sequoia Capital.

Gladia has a strong presence in the United States as a cutting-edge technology company for all-in-one speech recognition and audio intelligence APIs, and is known as the top tier of multilingual speech recognition in the US, Europe, and around the world.

Together, alt and Gladia will collaborate in basic and applied research and product development to advance alt's P.A.I. technologies, strengthen its AI GIJIROKU communication intelligence product, and enhance the global marketing efforts of both companies.
