YORBA LINDA, CA, UNITED STATES, June 10, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A reflective odyssey through the serene trails of Mount Saint Mary Cemetery in Queens, New York awaits within the pages of award-winning poet and community activist Vincent J. Tomeo's latest literary masterpiece, "My Cemetery Friends: A Garden of Encounters at Mount Saint Mary in Queens, New York."

Over the past thirty-three years, Tomeo's treks through the cemetery have not only yielded a wealth of knowledge but also a profound appreciation for the beauty and tranquility found among the headstones. Through encounters with fellow travelers, both living and departed, Tomeo expresses his observations on the human experience and the lasting connections that link every individual.

The Pacific Book Review's Ephantus M. praises Tomeo for being not just a brilliant poet but also a brave thinker who daringly addresses topics that are frequently cast aside in conversation. He draws attention to two important lessons learned from Tomeo's work: the value of deeply appreciating the value of life, no matter how small, and the significance of sharing in the happiness and sufferings of others with empathy. In addition, the book's powerful verses and vivid imagery enhance the meaning of each poem, encouraging readers to reflect on the fleeting nature of life and seize the present with a fresh sense of gratitude and energy.
