"We've had a remarkable year, achieving nearly all our ambitious goals thanks to the incredible efforts of our team," said Dan Bueschel, CEO of Modigent. "Our expansion, innovation, and commitment to a people-first culture have laid a solid foundation for continued success."

Since its launch, Modigent has quickly established a dominant presence in the HVAC and energy solutions market. The company has expanded its footprint, now operating from coast to coast. This strategic growth has been bolstered by the acquisition of multiple companies, adding approximately 500 new employees and increasing the company's portfolio to over $500 million.
