

AGC Georgia Names Sidney Haugabrook of Milwaukee Tool as Volunteer of the Year

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, June 13, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Associated General Contractors of Georgia (AGC Georgia), the leading association for the construction industry, is honored to recognize Milwaukee Tool Territory Manager Sidney Haugabrook as its Volunteer of the Year.

Recently presented at AGC Georgia's Annual Convention, the award honors industry members who generously donate their time and expertise to the association throughout the previous year.

Known as a "can do" individual with a genuine passion for his work and a welcoming demeanor, Haugabrook exemplifies what it means to go above and beyond in volunteering. His contributions extend beyond his professional role, as he actively champions his firm's sponsorship for AGC Georgia programs and eagerly offers assistance with individual events.

"Sidney's unwavering dedication and exceptional support make him a valued asset to the AGC Georgia community, deserving of recognition for his outstanding volunteerism and commitment to excellence," AGC Georgia CEO Mike Dunham said. "As AGC Georgia CEO, I am honored to present Sidney Haugabrook with the Volunteer of the Year Award, acknowledging his significant contributions and exemplary service."

Notably, Haugabrook's dedication to enhancing experiences extends to the Annual Convention's keynote presentation, where he coordinated additional support from Milwaukee Tool to deliver a powerful message on mental health. From coordinating door prizes for professional development gatherings, Haugabrook consistently demonstrates his commitment to supporting AGC Georgia initiatives. His generous contributions, such as providing substantial prize packs for Skills Challenges winners, underscore his belief in making a lasting impact on young individuals in the construction industry.
