

Associated General Contractors of Georgia Announces New Board of Directors

Joe Tuggle named president of AGC Georgia Board

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, June 13, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Associated General Contractors of Georgia (AGC Georgia), the leading statewide association for the construction industry, recently elected Tuggle Construction, LLC President Joe Tuggle as its chapter president. Tuggle is the president of Peachtree City-based Tuggle Construction, a General Contractor specializing in the industrial and commercial markets.

Joe Tuggle

Active within AGC Georgia since 1990, Tuggle has contributed to various committees and taskforces. He advocates for workforce development, previously spearheading the Central Georgia Skills Challenge for Georgia high school students. Tuggle demonstrates a commitment to industry advancement by having served on the AGC Georgia Board of Directors for seven years.

In addition to his professional pursuits, Tuggle founded The Tuggle Construction Foundation, dedicated to addressing diverse community needs, including funding local elementary school lunch accounts for students in need and contributing to the Midwest Food Bank Georgia Division.

Joining Tuggle on AGC Georgia's board are veteran industry professionals: Mike Macon from Balfour Beatty Construction as Vice President, Sean Moxley from Garbutt Construction Company as Secretary and Scott Lawrence from McCarthy Building Companies, Inc. as Treasurer. Together, they will guide AGC Georgia towards further success and expansion in the year ahead.

"AGC Georgia's board exemplifies industry excellence and promises to propel our association toward continued success by benefitting our members and advancing Georgia's construction marketplace," AGC Georgia CEO Mike Dunham said.
