21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Joyce Kahng, a leading dental influencer and owner of Orange and Magnolia Dental Studio, announces a new innovative procedure for removing veneers without drilling. The laser-only process removes veneers while conserving tooth enamel.

I am looking forward to a better patient experience for my patients," Dr. Joyce said. "The laser allows me to provide a more gentle process."

The dental laser, LiteTouch™, is an Erbium laser utilized for treating hard and soft oral tissue. While it has various uses, Dr. Joyce plans to use the laser for removing veneers, a process few in the industry perform.

As a cosmetic dentist, a large portion of Dr. Joyce's practice is revision dentistry. This can include patients who need a new set after many years and also for individuals who are unhappy with their veneers received elsewhere.

Traditionally the only method of removing veneers was to drill them off. With LiteTouch™, Dr. Joyce can remove and retrieve the veneer in one piece without any drilling which results in the most minimally invasive approach.

Drilling old veneers can be an unpleasant experience for patients, but it also requires anesthesia and can wear down dental equipment. The Laser is so gentle that it can remove the veneer by detaching it where it has been bonded to the tooth, without any need for numbing. No matter how careful the dentist intends to be, this continuous drilling can affect the underlying tooth structure. The LiteTouch™ laser is a minimally invasive tool for Dr. Joyce to help patients preserve as much healthy tissue as possible.

For individuals seeking to preserve their teeth and enhance their smiles without resorting to invasive procedures, Dr. Joyce Kahng and Orange and Magnolia Dental Studio offer a range of progressive solutions tailored to individual needs.
