The center features five distinct sections, each offering hands-on activities and virtual experiences. Highlights include a simulated car wash where children can learn about essential car components, a design studio for creative expression, and a build-a-race car feature that introduces physics concepts in a captivating manner.

One of the center's interactive exhibits allows children to virtually navigate through the streets of Reno using body movements, creating a unique and captivating experience. Additionally, a hands-on educational section and a dynamic workshop encourage children to explore the workings of vehicles and develop practical skills in mechanics and engineering.

The Museum is dedicated to ensuring the continuous growth and enrichment of the E.L. Wiegand Children's Educational Activity Center, with plans for a capital campaign to enhance the exhibit with additional elements shortly, ensuring that it remains a valuable educational resource for future generations.
