Colorado Companies to Watch selected 50 winners from over 1,100 nominations, judged based on evidence of employment and revenue growth, business successes, and differentiators. Axis Integrated Mental Health, a locally owned and operated clinic, grew revenues by nearly 500% in 2023, demonstrating its role in driving job creation and economic development.

“We are indebted to our team and our patients, who have been our biggest supporters and advocates in building our clinic,” said Liesl Perez, Chief Marketing Officer of Axis Integrated Mental Health. “What is most remarkable is that it only takes one person to recover to give others hope, and we have now served thousands. As patients transform into advocates for mental health, they build momentum for entire communities to heal and continue our mission.”
