Through her dynamic programs, Fornero has witnessed children's transformative journey as they develop musicality, rhythm, choreography skills, teamwork, confidence, and self-esteem. Her approach emphasizes fun, creativity, and the flourishing of children's imaginations.

Now, families and teachers worldwide can access her popular dance classes, fostering a positive message and inspiring children to embrace dance as a form of self-expression.

The YouTube channel initially offers four free 30-minute dance classes, with moves also broken into shorter segments.

Starting on July 1st, families can start a 6-week Family Dance Challenge on the YouTube channel. Participants will learn a 3-minute dance routine to the “Mama Watch Me Dance” song, written and composed by Melinda’s husband, Dan Fornero, a Los Angeles-based musician and partner for Music N’ Motion.

The launch of the YouTube channel is part of a broader campaign to raise awareness about the benefits of dance in early childhood education.

The channel and its content are designed to foster a sense of community among viewers, encouraging them to engage by watching videos and participating in discussions. This initiative promotes the importance of dance in early childhood development and supports its integration into kindergarten curricula.

With over two decades of experience, Fornero has dedicated her career to creating a playful and engaging dance curriculum for 2 - 5-year-olds at home and in classrooms. Her unwavering goal is to allow moms and teachers to witness their children's musical and dance development firsthand.

Fornero's journey in dance began at age 14, and despite starting later in life, she pursued her passion with unwavering determination. Her background includes the launch of Music' N Motion and the development of a preschool dance curriculum aligned with California Physical Education Standards and the Santa Monica Visual and Performing Arts (VAPA) curriculum.

Schools that have run Fornero’s dance programs and after school enrichment programs include Santa Monica Malibu Unified School District (SMMUSD); Redondo Beach Unified School District (RBUSD); Torrance Unified School District (TUSD) and LePort Montessori’s in Orange County.

There are also several private preschools that have hosted Fornero’s programs—from South Gate to Long Beach and throughout the South Bay, including Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach, Manhattan Beach, San Pedro and Rancho Palos Verdes.
