demonstrated a commitment to safeguarding his community and nation.

"I am deeply honored to receive the endorsement of Rev. Merrie Turner," said Kaufman. "Rev.

Turner has been a beacon of faith and leadership, and her support is a testament to the shared commitment we have for upholding the values that make our country great. I am eager to bring this spirit of service and dedication to the halls of Congress and to work tirelessly for the people of District 23.”

Rev. Turner is widely respected for her role in organizing the Presidential Inaugural Prayer Breakfast, a non-partisan event that brings together faith leaders, elected officials, and citizens to pray for the nation’s leaders and future. Her endorsement is a significant affirmation of Kaufman’s alignment with faith-based leadership and dedication to community service.

Kaufman's campaign is focused on key issues, such as strengthening the economy, securing U.S. borders, promoting educational initiatives, protecting the benefits of seniors, and defending the constitutional rights of all Americans. With a clear vision and a strong sense of purpose, Joe Kaufman is committed to representing the values and needs of District 23 in Congress.

The endorsement by Rev. Turner adds to the growing list of respected community leaders and organizations supporting Kaufman’s candidacy. As the August 20 Election Day approaches, Kaufman continues to build momentum and garner support from constituents who are eager for principled and effective leadership.
