About AI for Positive Impact

AI for Positive Impact was founded by Kelley Tenny and Jacob R. Miles III. They both see the tremendous progress for humanity that is possible with AI but understand that it will flood us with devastation if we don't work harder to direct it towards a positive impact on society. There is a lot that could go very wrong. It is a movement that includes no tech, tech and tech-adjacent people and communities. It is a movement and community for levelheaded discussions emphasizing the sociopolitical and socioeconomic context in which AI technology exists and is being developed.
