

RENEWABLE LAND ACQUIRES 622 ACRES OF LAND IN NEVADA

Renewable Land announces the acquisition of a 622-acre property in Humboldt County, Nevada entirely leased to the Battle Mountain Solar project.

MANHATTAN BEACH, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, July 1, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Renewable Land is pleased to announce the acquisition of a 622-acre property in Humboldt County, Nevada entirely leased to the Battle Mountain Solar project. The project consists of a 100-megawatt solar power plant and 25 megawatts of four-hour duration battery storage.

"The acquisition is consistent with Renewable Land's strategy of investing in properties leased to high-quality renewable energy projects, including solar, wind and battery storage (BESS) facilities," said Alex Stone, President and Co-Founder of Renewable Land.

"The US is experiencing unprecedented renewable energy development to support electricity demand from artificial intelligence, data centers, manufacturing plants and electric vehicles. These projects require a significant amount of real estate which continues to present incredible investment opportunities for Renewable Land," Stone added.
