

CMMC Secrets for the DIB: Examine Latest Updates for the CMMC Final Rule

Navigating for significant steps and latest updates for the CMMC Final Rule

WAUKEE, IA, USA, July 1, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- ecfirst is excited to announce a collaborative webinar with GovBrief, set for July 10, 2024. This 90-minute session, titled "CMMC Secrets for the DIB: Navigating for Assessment Success," will provide vital insights into CMMC readiness, assessment, and CMMC Final Rule updates that the Defense Industrial Base must be aware of to prepare for CMMC certification.

The Defense Department has submitted the first final rule to implement the CMMC program to OMB's Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, marking a significant milestone in getting the necessary regulatory steps to officially launch the Pentagon initiative.

The DoD is also expected to enforce a mandate for federal contractors, including small and medium businesses, to comply with CMMC 2.0 L1 and L2 requirements starting in Q1 2025. These requirements will be incorporated into DFARS contracts, including subcontracting supply chains.

What does it all mean? These updates are significant, as preparing for a CMMC assessment requires several months of sustained effort. DIB prime and subcontractors are strongly encouraged to prepare for CMMC 2.0 readiness, which means keeping up with the ever-evolving CMMC Ecosystem and CMMC Final Rule. Join us as we break it down and tell you what this means for your organization.

"These are valued updates related to the most current status on the CMMC Final Rule that must be disseminated within the ecosystem," said Ali Pabrai, Chief Executive of ecfirst. "The synergy between the GovBrief platform and ecfirst content presents a unique opportunity to accelerate and optimize CMMC awareness and readiness within the DIB."
