

250 Years of U.S. Army Engineers in Upcoming Edition of America's Engineers Publication

America's Engineers to cover the past, present, and future of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in a special '250 Years of U.S. Army Engineers' edition.

CLEARWATER, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, July 9, 2024 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- In 2025, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) celebrates Army Engineers: Building the Future. This special theme will be recognized throughout USACE, as it celebrates 250 years, tracing its origins back to 1775, when the Continental Congress organized the Army and provided for a Chief Engineer.

AMERICA'S ENGINEERS

AMERICA'S ENGINEERS: THE PEOPLE, PROGRAMS, AND PROJECTS OF THE U.S. ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS©, published by American Conference & Event Media, LLC (ACEM), will feature content and contributions from the USACE Office of History, as well as special articles written by USACE personnel and ACEM writers that examine the past, present, and future of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers across its five mission areas: Civil Works; Military Missions; Emergency Operations; Environmental; and Research and Development. Additionally, several of the world's most recognizable and significant engineering projects led by the Corps of Engineers, such as the Panama Canal, Manhattan Project, Apollo Program, and Pentagon will be featured.

“This special edition of America's Engineers is the place for partners to sign the 250th birthday card and advertise their capabilities to USACE and industry professionals.”

Damion Harte, America's Engineers, Publisher

As with previous editions of AMERICA'S ENGINEERS, we will continue to cover current and upcoming USACE programs and projects.

For firms that work on any of the current projects or programs, and for those that have been part of past programs with USACE, AMERICA'S ENGINEERS invites you to be part of the celebration and to promote your solutions by securing one of the available advertising placements that have been set aside in the upcoming edition.
