We've focused on designing lights that not only enhance the aesthetic appeal of any space but also adhere to high standards of sustainability.”

Henry Phan, the founder of Rowabi

Rowabi's team of talented designers has crafted each pendant light in the new collection to have a unique character, transforming any space with a blend of modern elegance and sophistication. This collection continues the success of Rowabi's most favored rattan lights, promising the same exceptional standards of design and craftsmanship.

For years, Rowabi has been a leader in the rattan lighting market, delivering handcrafted rattan pendant lights that showcase exceptional craftsmanship and eco-friendly practices. The new Contemporary Pendant Light Collection builds on this legacy, featuring a variety of classy, contemporary designs that instantly enhance the elegance and perceived value of any home.

According to a recent study by Lutron Electronics, 91% of U.S. homeowners consider quality lighting crucial to their home design, and 75% regard it as one of the most important design elements in their home. This underscores the significance of Rowabi's new collection in meeting the demand for lighting solutions designed to elevate the luxury of American homes.

Henry Phan, the founder of Rowabi, is thrilled to introduce the Contemporary Pendant Light Collection, a testament to the brand's unwavering commitment to transforming ordinary spaces into extraordinary homes. "We believe that lighting is the heart and soul of any room, and our designers pour their passion into creating pieces that not only illuminate but also inspire," says Henry. "This collection is a reflection of our customers' unique stories and aspirations, offering them the opportunity to express their individual style while elevating their living spaces. At Rowabi, we refuse to compromise on quality or sustainability, ensuring that each pendant light is a masterpiece of design and craftsmanship, delivering both stunning aesthetics and eco-friendly performance.

Each pendant light at Rowabi is meticulously crafted from imported materials without harmful chemicals, perfect for eco-conscious, modern homes. Rowabi's designers ensure a harmonious look throughout your home, creating a warm, inviting ambiance that impresses guests. This collection redefines luxury lighting, emphasizing exceptional quality and captivating aesthetics while offering versatile styling options to complement your personal taste and elevate your home's appeal.

To mark the launch, Rowabi is offering a 30% discount on pre-orders, with deliveries scheduled by July 25th. This limited-time offer provides an opportunity for customers to obtain these lighting pieces at a considerable value.
