About Golftini

Since its inception, Golftini has been committed to empowering women both on and off the golf course. Founded by Susan Hess, who faced the challenge of finding stylish women's golf clothes, Golftini has bridged the gap between fashion and traditional women's golf apparel. What started with a single skort design has evolved into a mission-driven brand dedicated to making a positive impact.

Golftini's mission extends beyond fashion. The brand actively raises awareness and funds for breast cancer research, partnering with the American Cancer Society and Pink Aid. Golftini's logo has always been light pink, symbolizing their commitment to breast cancer awareness.
