

Acclaimed Winner of Over 25 Indie Film Festival Awards - GIFT OF FEAR Available to Streaming VOD Beginning July 9

Highlights the Real-Life Missing and Murdered Indigenous Person Crisis Raging Across the US & Canada
Raging Across the US & Canada

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, July 8, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Random Media and On Native Ground productions proudly announce the debut of the award-winning film GIFT OF FEAR, a powerful, action-filled drama based on true events exploring one young woman's journey within the devastating Missing and Murdered Indigenous Person's Crisis (MMIP). The film debuts on major streaming VOD platforms, beginning July 9, 2024. Directed by Katy Dore and Jack Kohler and starring Justin Johnson Cortez (Walker: Independence), Michael Horse (Twin Peaks), Laura Vallejo (American Crime Story), Sam Marra (Stumptown), Elle Beyer (Kung Fu Brother) and exciting newcomer Isa Antonetti as Mili, it is the story of a young Indigenous woman who, after witnessing her mother's death at the hands of kidnappers years earlier, pursues a gang of sex traffickers who have kidnapped her best friend.

Highlighting the major crisis devastating Native populations across America and Canada, the film is a deeply personal film for the large Native cast and crew, developed, in part, due to co-director and Hoopa tribal member Kohler's own experience of having 72 women missing from the Hoopa Valley tribes. Dr. April Lea Go Forth serves as the film's Executive Producer, which was written by Carly and Jack Kohler.

LONG/FULL SYNOPSIS: Mili is a hardened young woman dealing with the trauma of watching the murder of her mother when she was just six. She's been in the foster system ever since. Now her Social Worker moves Mili to a group home, in another part of the city to get her away from the gang that she has fallen into where she's introduced to a retired MMA fighter, Koko, coach of the Dragonfox Youth team. Mili now has a new family and a new home.

Recently, developments have led the FBI Missing & Murdered Unit to send out one of their agents, Manny, to follow up on a Native American woman's body that has been uncovered near the reservation. The body is of Mili's mom. The agent is also investigating an ongoing missing person case of another young Native woman, Kyah, along with seventy-two other open cases. This takes the agent on the trail of a human trafficking ring linked to Mili's former gang. When the gang eventually finds Mili at the Dojo and confronts her coach and her new MMA family, the team ultimately prevents the gang from taking Mili. In vengeance, the gang kidnaps Mili's girlfriend.

Now Mili must choose between the life she's finally making work or risk everything to save her friend from a life of sex trafficking.
