Kaushal Kakkad

Kaushal Kakkad, the trustee of the Summirow Foundation, stated, "We live in a healthy society due to the unwavering efforts and contributions of doctors. Today, we honor the doctors of Surat for their commitment. As far as we know, over 30% of Indians do not have access to basic dental care like toothbrushes and toothpaste. Neglecting oral care can lead to around 57 diseases in the human body. We aim to address these issues with the help of individuals, NGOs, corporations, the government, and local communities."

The primary goal of this honor ceremony was to recognize and respect the selfless and dedicated contributions of individuals to society. It was a testament to the noble spirit of service that these doctors provide.
